

Café in Mandaree will soon be in Full force

Quotes For The Heart & Mind:

“You get in life what you have the courage to ask for”.
~Nancy D. Solomon

“In the end, it is important to remember that we cannot become what we need to be by remaining what we are”.
~Max De Prez

“We’re here for a reason. I believe a bit of the reason is to throw little torches out to lead people through the dark.”
~Whoopi Goldberg

Hay Draw Café Manager, Lindsey Fox-Sepeta along with her assistant Megan Danks are both optimistic about running this café for our customers.

Its been a long wait but things are slowly coming together. According to Lindsey Fox-Sepeta, she states; “Once I get my stove going and my vents put up then the real cooking will begin. For now, I’ve been using a hot plate to get hot foods out there for our customers.

Once the stove and vents are up than Lindsey will be able to offer more home made meals and extend her menu.

For now customers who come in the store can have sandwiches that are made fresh on a daily basis and stored in the fridge for customers to buy.

On the menu the day this photo was taken was home made slush burgers, onions rings and potato salad. Her breakfast meals are very tasty, I can honestly say that because I bought breakfast at the Hay Draw Café.

From there they sell all kinds of fresh wrapped sandwiches and fountain drinks.

Its awesome to know we have a café here in our community, where people can come and enjoy a meal or have a sandwich. There isn’t anyplace to eat otherwise in Mandaree so it’s great to know that we have a café a store and more.

Councilwoman Turner-Long Fight Update

I would like to say Greetings, to all relatives and everyone far and near.

Before I begin this month's update. I would first of all like to extend my deepest sympathy to the family and relatives of Diane (Yellow Wolf) Mischel and the family and relatives of Linda Baker and Davis Monogram and Karen Fettig family and relatives on the passing of their loved ones. I would like to extend my condolences to other segments who have lost their loved ones. Our reservation has experienced a lot of losses of our people and relatives, we all need to pray for our relatives and families who have lost their beloved ones.

As I begin this month's update, I am very thankful and grateful to all the people in our community who have been so ever helpful and supportive as far as our events go. Especially the West Segment employees those who are very loyal and helpful, it helps me a lot.

As our people gathered to witness the ground blessings of our new upcoming buildings, this will surely be a memorable day. Pictured to your left is "Swift Eagle", aka James G. Johnson, who blessed the fair grounds with a prayer and offered tobacco in each of the directions. Other ground blessings to take place were the clinic blessing and the assisted living blessing were done by Lyda Bearstail. Ground blessings for all four buildings were done by James G. Johnson and Lyda Bearstail. After the ground blessings were done we all gathered back to the Water Chief Hall for a meal that was provided by the West Segment staff. The day was perfect to do these ground blessings. I am so grateful for the way the day turned out.

The Architect Company "Brunton" was available to take questions and suggestions from the community members. The construction managers were also available to introduce themselves to the community and to hear what our vision is for the future. Burke will be constructing our fairgrounds and A & P will be constructing our clinic, assistant living and activity center. We are hoping the four buildings; Swift Eagle, James G. Johnson, Activity Center; People of the Willow, Clinic, Assistant Living, and the fairgrounds to be completed in fall of 2024. I was very happy to see our people come out to witness this ground blessing. We had a great turn out.

On another note, West Segment will be hosting a Trunk & Treat on Halloween. Starting off with a parade at noon, the truck and treat will take place at outside the parking lot of the Water Chief Hall from 1pm to 4pm. I want to encourage all community members and entities to participate for our children's enjoyment, to help make this possible I have requested administrative leave for that day to participates. The Halloween carnival will start from 5-7 and the masquerade will be 7-9pm. The Mandaree celebration committee will be selling concessions.

I am very happy to announce we will be holding a soft opening for our Minot thrift store; Twice As Nice on October 27 from 1-3pm the location is 1933 S. Boardway Suite 3 in Minot. The phone number is 701-839-3645. A bus will be available for people who want to attend. Those interested in attending are asked to call 759-3377 to reserve your seat before October 26th.

Remember Election day is November 8th at the Water Chief Hall. A bus will also be provided for the Dunn County residences who need a ride to Manning to cast your vote.

The bus will depart from the Elder's building at these times; 10am, 1pm, and 4pm. People are asked to please call 759-3377 to reserve your seat.

I and the staff here will do our best to keep you all inform on what's going on in our community in our upcoming West Segment News. Thank you for being a good reader.

Gowids.

Around West Segment

It's great to see them patching up the road here as you drive into the streets of Mandaree. This road had pot holes in it and was very rough to drive over. Now it will be smooth with no rough patches. The road being fixed is on Ridge Road on your way to our West Segment community center Water Chief Hall.

Another photo of them working on Ridge Rd. This turn off is on your way up to the Mandaree C Store and our Mandaree Celebration grounds.

Note from the Editor

I would like to let our readers know that I have combined the September and October issue. I did this because I had problems with the computer, I had to send it back to Minot to get cleaned out it had a virus.

The computer works good now and hopefully it won't catch another virus. Things happen like this that I had no control over so I just wanted our faithful readers to know what was going on.

I want to thank each of you for your patience and understanding and I hope you enjoy reading the West Segment News. Feel free to send us an email and let us know that you enjoy reading the West Segment News you can email me at lovinafox@mhanation.com

Once again thank you.

Wolf Chief Store & More!

What a site to see their chips shelves and other isles were nice and full for incoming customers who entered the Wolf Chief Store & More. The Management at the store are working on keeping all the shelves fully stocked.

Most of the shelves were full of can goods, and all the items you would see in any grocery store. It was great to see that if you needed something you wouldn't have to drive thirty some odd miles to get it. You could find it at our store.

As I walked up and down the isles of the Wolf Chief Store & More I was amazed at what they had to offer to their customers. They had freezers full of various meats, and they also offered produce for sale. At the end of this isle they have stacked cases of all kinds of sodas. You just have to take time to go to the Wolf Chief Store & More and I am sure you will find what you need.

Your last stop when you're done shopping, this is where you pay for your groceries. They have baskets you can use for your groceries but they do have to get some grocery carts so it's easier for some customers who want to buy more.

Forgiveness

What is forgiveness? Psychologists generally define forgiveness as a conscious deliberate decision to release feelings of resentment or vengeance toward a person or group who has harmed you regardless of whether they actually deserve your forgiveness.

Forgiveness is the pathway to peace for a person or group. The decision to forgive is a personal decision that has to take place inside the person. It is very helpful to ask in prayer for the grace from God to forgive. Holding unforgiveness in my heart has me feeling angry, mad, bitter, betrayed, resentful, disrespected, ridiculed, indignant and so on.

These feelings are dangerous to hold on too. They have led me to the point of hopelessness, despair, helpless and powerlessness. I used to try to numb these feelings. I did not know I was holding on to resentments. Having resentments unchecked can become mixed and interwoven. I found relief when I surrendered, because I became tired of fighting the same thing or the same person who was never going to change anyway. Most of these resentments occurred in the past and I cannot change or undo any of my past hurts or wrongs done to me or by me.

With resentments, the more I try to just forget them, the more they come up and it also seems like I am quicker to justify them at any means. One of my Spiritual Directors told me that having a resentment or being resentful or holding on to hate is like drinking poison and expecting the other person to die.

My Spiritual Director went on to explain that I will not know peace until I forgive. This meant for me to quit fighting. He also said that forgiving people doesn't make you one of them. He said it releases you from the things that block you from the sunlight of the spirit of God. Being able to do this takes courage and a willingness to be able to look at yourself. It's kind of like driving a car, we can't just get in and go and never look at the fuel tank level or oil etc. We have to take an honest inventory of ourselves, otherwise just like the vehicle that doesn't get any fuel, it will not move.

We can always turn to God and ask for guidance. Many of our past hurts run deep, and some are even hidden. Evil loves it when we hold on to them. Evil would love to see us drown in hate for each other.

Like I said, it takes courage. But when I have made that decision to turn it over to God and made that decision to forgive, it does not mean I forget, but I do feel relief in those areas of my life.

God the Creator made us in his image. The son, Jesus, came to help us, to redeem us for our past sins. He came to give us a pathway forward to the Father. They sent the Holy Spirit to guide us.

May Almighty God, the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit bless you all the days of your life. Amen!

Letters to the Editor

My name is Lisa DeVille, I am a citizen of the Three Affiliated Tribes, and a resident of Mandaree, ND which is in the heart of the Bakken Play. My family and I experience the negative impacts of living in a community that has an enormous amount of oil and gas extraction and associated activities. Not only are we immediately harmed by poor health and a damaged environment, but we are also impacted by the effects of climate change, including severe weather, drought, and fires.

As you know, Methane is an eighty-six times more powerful greenhouse gas than carbon dioxide. The oil and gas industry's methane and other air pollution are fueling the climate crisis and threatening the health and safety of my (and others') communities.

Routine flaring is a major source of methane and other pollutants and must be eliminated. Colorado and New Mexico have already done this at the state level and EPA should end this dangerous and wasteful practice. North Dakota has a flaring intensity of 7% - 7 times greater than that of the next highest state which is New Mexico at 1%. Please, help North Dakota reduce our flaring intensity. We know it can be done and as our state government is unwilling to do this, you must step in.

All wells, regardless of their Potential to Emit should have monthly Leak Detection and Repair inspections. My community is directly and immediately impacted by the toxic pollutants that are emitted alongside methane and we are also facing the terrible consequences of these greenhouse gases being emitted by the effects of global warming.

In addition to eliminating routine flaring, the EPA should require more, regular monitoring at oil and gas facilities, increase the number of ambient air monitoring equipment and place them in locations that give people real data on the air that they are breathing, assist tribal communities who want to see their tribal government create a Tribal Air Monitoring System, and include community or third-party air monitoring, including drone sampling, into its regulations.

Uphold your responsibility to protect all people and remember the Trust responsibility the federal government has to tribal citizens.

In closing please:

1. Finalize the initially proposed rule as soon as possible.
2. Issue a supplemental rule to:
 1. End the wasteful and dangerous practice of routine flaring at oil and gas facilities.
 2. Require monthly Leak Detection and Repair of all wells regardless of their Potential to Emit.
 3. Install more monitors, assist and support government and community groups in developing air monitoring programs, and incorporate emission monitoring results generated by community groups and other third parties into its standards.

Thank you for your time and attention

US Senate approved NEPA Phase 1 Rulemaking Congressional Review Act (CRA)

Recently the US Senate approved a Congressional Review Act (CRA) regarding the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) Phase 1 rulemaking. This CRA sponsored by Senators Hoeven and Cramer would, if passed by the US Congress, present serious threat to the federal environmental review process and efforts to tackle climate change and environmental injustice through NEPA.

As a citizen of the MHA nation, I know that NEPA is often the only opportunity tribal citizens get to learn about and make a public comment on a proposed federal project on tribal lands. This is an environmental justice issue as well as a climate change issue. My people are already suffering poor physical and environmental health due to all the extraction going on around us, we need to be able to weigh in on future federal projects so that we can protect ourselves, our environment, and future generations. Then, because of climate related issues such as fires, drought, severe storms we are impacted again.

The Fourth National Climate Assessment (NCA4) in chapter 12 concluded: "Climate change increasingly threatens Indigenous communities' livelihoods, economies, health, and cultural identities by disrupting interconnected social, physical, and ecological systems."

I am disappointed that my Senators choose to ignore the needs of me, my family, and my people by sponsoring this terrible legislation. I hope that it will die in The House.

This CRA is a terrible piece of legislation. NEPA is critical to getting projects reviewed for impacts to land and people, particularly on tribal lands. NEPA language needs to be strengthened not hamstrung!

Remembering Diane.....

Diane Judy Mischel "Plum" was born January 11, 1969 in Watford City to Hazel White Owl and Raymond Yellow Wolf Sr. Diane was a child of the Metzeedoga Clan and a member of the Dripping Dirt Clan.

Diane met her husband Robert Mischel at Box Elder Job Corp in Nemo, South Dakota in 1988. Robert and Diane married on August 6, 1989. From this union, they had four children; Robert Jr., Malachi, Angelwea and Daniel. Her most precious treasure were her grandchildren, Bella Beans, Malaya and Ella Mae.

In Diane's early years she loved to ride bike around Mandaree with all her relatives and friends and she really enjoyed playing kick-the-can at night in the neighborhood. Diane loved to babysit and earn money and then spend her earnings on the kids buying them candy and Christmas Caroling. While in high school Diane was very active and participated in the Indian Club, Pep Band, Marching Band, Jazz Band, and defensive tackle where she was acknowledged by USA Today and Seventeen Magazine as being one of four girls to play football for Mandaree (17th in the country).

Diane enjoyed with her family and experiencing different places; like the laser show at Crazy Horse, liked riding down pow wow trail and she also made friends wherever she traveled. One close friend she made, then was able to visit in the hometown Was Issac Gonzalas Pardo and his family. In her past time, she loved to watch The Walton, gambling and cruising the Black Hills in Rapid City.

Among the many accomplishments Diane achieved in her life time, was she helped create the Earth Lodge People Security in Mandaree in the late 90's, she opened a store in Mandaree when one was needed. At the store she created an area where kids could hang out and play games. Diane also strongly believed in the Lord Creator. She actively supported the Water Is Life Baptist Church in Mandaree. Diane loved to help people, she especially had a soft heart for kids and loved to donate to different charities for kids. Throughout her life time she adopted many people as her own and helped them out anyway she could. Diane will be remembered as a mother. She always did what she could for her children. She once opened a lemonade stand called Lil' Rascals. She loved getting to know someone, sharing life stories and experiences when ever it seemed to it was needed to be shared.

Obituary

Linda Baker, Awa-XXidi Mea (Light Woman); was born August 8, 1942 at home near Elbowoods on the Fort Berthold Indian Reservation. She attended grade school and high school at boarding schools, since the policy of the federal government at that time was to get Indians off the reservation and integrate them into white society. While that was the apparent goal, the legacy of this period of colonialism was a fracturing of tribal relations to this day we are still dealing with. When speaking of her boarding school servitude, Linda was never proud. In fact, it was part of what drove her to eventually go to college so she could teach Indian kids on the reservation, rather than away from their families. She graduated from Flandreau Indian School in 1960, then had a period of time where she worked in clerical roles for the Indian health service and the three affiliated tribes. When she was an Indian health service employee, she lived in Rockville, Maryland where her two sisters lived, they also worked for the Indian health service. In 1980, she decided that she wasn't really going to get anywhere in life unless she got herself an education. She attended college at Dickinson State College in Dickinson, ND, with a major in English and a minor in German. She would talk of someday going to Germany, but she never actually got to make that trip. She graduated in 1984, after having done her student teaching in the spring semester of 84 at Dickinson's Trinity high school. Teaching English would become her passion for the next 30 years. Her students were always very important to her, and their success and learning was the driving force behind her instruction. It always caused her no end of grief when one of her students passed away. To the extent that she was able to, she attended all of their services until her later years of life when she said it was just too difficult to continue to attend those services. She loved all her students, even the bad seeds (they know who they are), and she was always happy and proud of them. She always enjoyed her family, including all of her siblings. She was very close to her brother Lyle, they were two years apart. She had two sisters still living in Maryland so naturally she spent most of her time with her two brothers and their families here on Fort Berthold. Since she was the youngest in the family, they referred to her as "baby", and they called her that for the rest of their lives. When she finished college, she lived in Mandaree for several years until her parents needed help on the ranch, particularly her father. While she wasn't a conventional ranch hand, she never backed away from it. During the week she would cut hay with the swather, her brothers would come and bale it on the weekends. She was also accomplished fixing fence, and she earned her PhD (post hold digger) at a young age. Linda and her brothers helped on the ranch for many years, until her brother Lyle passed away in 1990, and her father passed away just a few years later. Her brother Milton passed away in 1998. At that point it was just Linda and her mother living on the ranch, they kept the ranch because she could not part with them after Philip passed away. These cattle would stay on the ranch until her mother passed away in 2002. Linda and her brothers would joke all the time about how difficult it was to be ranchers and cowboys. This was especially true when they fed cattle in the winter. One of the things that always vexed her about being a rancher was when other ranchers could not fix fence and take care of their animals. These animals then would invariably end up on her ranch, and she would have to find out who they belonged to or she would have to drive them out. Just a few days before her death, she was a passenger in a pickup moving at high speed across the prairie, chasing six horses. While the people in the backseat were justifiably terrified, she enjoyed herself and was even laughing. She once had her picture taken while she was cutting hay, by a mashii-mia photographer from some university in Canada. This picture is hanging on the wall at this university in Canada because it was emblematic of the kind of work Indian women never shied away from. While she was a rancher, she was also named English teacher of the year for the state of North Dakota, and she collaborated with the North Dakota Indian Affairs Commissioner, Cheryl Kulas to write a curriculum. She was proud of this, but she would not brag about it. She continued with education throughout her life, eventually earning enough credits for a master's degree in education. While she was then qualified to be an administrator, she had no desire to do so, holding most administrators in a particular sort of disdain. For her, it was all about the students. In her later years, she was heard to describe her job as the best kind of job anyone could have.

When it was pointed out that she was retired, she would then describe her "job". She would describe a day with her cat Diego, her trips to the casino, then having supper with her cat when they would read together or watch TV or play. When she was told that wasn't really a job, then she would say that was why it was the best job anyone could have. She enjoyed going to pow wows, traveling to Las Vegas (or other destinations), and spending time with her family members.

One event in her life that she was most proud of was when she was able to see her father inducted into the North Dakota Cowboy Hall of Fame, modern era ranching division.

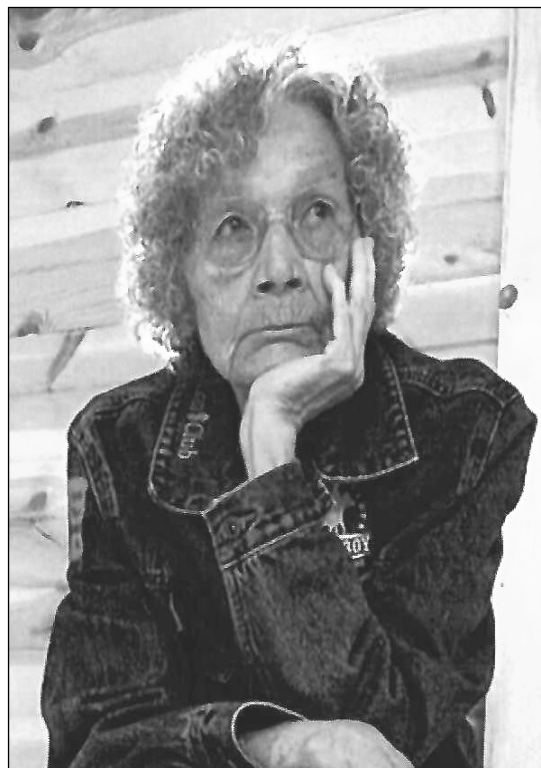

Linda is survived by her sister Ethel (Sonny), her son Biron (Sheri) and her daughter Trena (Al). She is also survived by four grandchildren; Nickolas, Jordan, Arlin, and Skylar and three great grandchildren Ezla, Sansa, and Hendrick.

She grew up in Mandaree where she had many relatives and easily made an endless number of friends, she considered family. She was an open-hearted kind soul who found it hard to say no to anyone in need.

Marlena attended Kicking Horse Job Corp in Montana where she obtained her GED and became a certified painter. In 2005 she married Henry Damon Smith and in that union, she had two beautiful daughters; Sophie Jade White Owl and Melody Andrea Smith. She loved and cared for her daughters with all her heart. In March 2019, she married Levi Grinnell and in that union she had a son Maximus Sebastian Grinnell. Marlena and Levi lived in Mandaree together for several years with their blended family, in total having five children.

We all know Marlena overcame so many trials in life and was a strong woman. She had a laugh that was contagious to all around her always joking and trying to find the positive in sad times.

In May 2021, Gilbert Mata Jr., and Marlena crossed paths for the 3rd time in life and decided to give their love a try. They found true love in each other, he was very supportive of her and loved Marlena dearly. They made plans to tie the knot and move to Texas along with her children to begin a new journey in life together.

She had a very special bond with Dorothy (White Owl) Rush, they always gave each other a hard time jokingly and were always by each other's side laughing and just cracking jokes and of course getting into trouble together.

Obituary

Karen Helen Fettig “Walks Far Woman” (Diisha niiri wiia-sh), was born on December 19, 1960 to Darlene (Good Bird) and Leander Gerald Finley in Stanley, ND. She was a member of the Knife Clan and a child of the Chicken Clan.

Karen was the eldest of six children. When she was a little girl, she spent a lot of time with her Aunt Ina Mae while her mother, Darlene obtained her Nursing degree. Her mother’s nursing career took them various places such as Poplar, MT, Williston, Nd and Tioga, ND and then they moved to Mandaree, where she attended school until the family then made their home in New Town, ND and Karen attended New Town High School and graduated in 1979.

While she attended school , Karen was talented in Track and basketball. She holds two records; shot-put and softball throw. Karen attended Haskell Indian Nations University where she received a scholarship for basketball. In her later years, she attended Fort Berthold Community College (NHSC) where she received her Paraprofessional degree.

Growing up as well, Karen loved to ride her horse named “Prince” every day. Her and her siblings always raced to see whoever the first one awake was, could ride him. She also spent a lot of time with her grandparents; Benjamin and Helen Good Bird.

Karen met Morgan Fettig while in High School in 1979, and they married in 1984. Three children were born to this union; Coleton James, Jacob Lewis and their “babygirl” Shantel Laverne, the family made their home in Mandaree, ND.

Karen was a hard worker throughout her life. She worked two full time jobs; Four Bears Casino & Lodge for five years and the Mandaree Elementary School for twenty plus years. She also loved following her children, Jake and Shantel to their sporting events with her mother in law, the late Laverne Fettig. They also enjoyed going to the State fair every year.

In her spare time, she enjoyed going to the casino. Karen had a hand in raising Ruby and Lena Lone Bear for two years, she grew a special bond with them throughout their lives. Karen had a gift of being artistically creative, her talent skills in drawing led her to win a logo by the Mandaree School in which today the logo still represents the “ Mandaree Warriors”.

Karen was currently residing at Sunset Drive Prospera Nursing home in Mandan, ND. She made the best of her time while living there and made many friends. Still having that artistic nature, she enjoyed making dream catchers she would gift to family and friends. She loved when her kids and grandkids and/or family visited her and brought home cooked meals.

Karen stayed up to par on technology to communicate with family where she would use her secretary (Alexa) to help make calls and face time. She definitely loved to do on-line shopping; she made sure to keep up on the latest trends for her grandkids and finding gifts for the holidays/birthdays. She was able to fulfill her bucket list request and attend the United Tribes pow wow in September.

Walks Far Woman left this earthly life on October 1, 2022 at Sanford Hospital in Bismarck, ND. God bless her memory. She will forever live in our hearts.
